Mr. Tyrrell left the stand, and Dr. Wendell C. Phillips was called and sworn.

Coming to the point of his being called to attend H. C. Barnet, whom, he said, he found suffering from some kind of irritant poison, he told of his treatment of this use and of the death of Barnet, and then case and of the death of Barnet, and then of his treating U. S. Cornish, whom he found suffering from an irritant poison that he recognized as the same form of poison that caused the death of Barnet. Recorder tooff suggested that there was no need of mentioning specific dates and places and names. Mr. Osborne replied that he must first qualify his witness, and that he must first qualify his witness, and that to do so he must first get on the record his experiences in poison cases.

He proposed to show by the witness that a certain man who had been attended by him died from a certain poison; that Cornach had been ill of the same form of irritant poison, and that Mrs. Adams died from the same. Then Mr. Osborne asked:

Dr. Phillips was permitted to testify that he had attended another person where the symptoms were like those he found in Cornish. The poisoning, he said, came after taking 'some substance.'

All of this evidence as to the patient referred to Barnet. Mr. Osborne tried to get before the jury what Barnet had said to the doctor about what flaries had said to the doctor about the contents of the box he saw. There were objections by Mr. Weeks, and Mr. (Sebarne had to quote law at considerable length to persuade the court that his methods of examination were within the rule of law. He quoted from a citation concerning a case of yellow fever, but was told by the court that he must confine him-self to cases similar in all points.

Phillips then said in answer to ones tions that it was his opinion at the time he attended "A. B." that he was suffering from some powerful irritant polson. He based this opinion on the general condition of the patient, but formed no opinion of the nature of the poison. He did form an opinion as to the source from which the irrigant came.

This opinion, he said, came from the pa-tient himself. To all of these questions and answers Mr. Weeks objected, but was over-

Horatio Rubens Says Confidence Has Replaced Distrust.

Mr. Horatio Rubens, prominently identified with the Cuban cause, who was counsel for the Cuban junta during the revolution, and is now associated with Senon Quesada in the Cuban representation here, returned this morning from a visit to Havana, Matanzas and other points in Cuba, where he was accorded an enthusiastic reception by the Cubans. Mr. Rubens accompanied General Wood when he went to assume the governor gen-eraiship, and he not only witnessed that interesting event, but also had the opportu nity of presenting General Gomez, General Redriguez and many other veteran Cuban affairs of the Island.

The feeling of the Cubans toward Gen Wood was shown by a banquet given at the Tacon Theater at Havana last Saturda the Tacon Theater at Havana last Saturday night, when 200 generals and "veteranos" sat down, while the galleries were filled with the south and beauty of the Cuban to an end by the recorder saying:

"Gentlemen, you must not wrangle in this manner when a man is on trial for his life."

The witness had seen Cornish write and identified as being in Cornish's writing the street of the control of the cuban leaders, as gime, their expectations and general program. Speaking of his observations, he said:

"No country on earth is more at peac than Cuba is. The President's message followed by the appointment of Gen. Wood who goes to carry out the policy of the President, have been received with universal favor. The veterans of the revolution and all elements, even those supposed to be most at unrest, are deeply gratified by the program enunciated by Gen. Wood—the reform of the courts so as to give speedy trials, the clearing of the prisons of those who have been languishing under the slow procedure, the establishment of a system of free public schools and the construction of free public schools and the construction of ads, all with a view to local necessities These purposes have met with universal applause from the Cubans.

applause from the Cubans.
"So long as there was any doubt as to the purpose of the United States, the revolutionary element stood aloof and expectant. Now, however, they feel that they must constitute the conservative party in Cuba, that is, the party which supports the political program of the President.

Fitting Themselves to Govern

"I have further found, in conversation with many of the Cuban leaders, that the day is very rapidly approaching when all the elements of Cuba, even those who were opposed to the revolution, will be called opposed to the revolution, will be called upon to aid in the political reconstruction of the Island, and to form a government in which all the inhabitants of Cuba may take part. The leaders of the revolution are desirous that the government to be established shall be one that will guarantee life, liberty and property to all. They are anxicus to be given the opportunity which has been provided them by Gen. Wood of taking hold of all departments and thus practically fitting themselves for the government that is to come. They expect that this new government will be established as soon as possible, but they do not Insist upon unreasonable haste.

"So long as the Cubans are satisfied of the intentions of the United States, and see that practical steps are being taken toward the realization of their hopes, they can be relied upon to co-operate with the American authorities to the fullest extent, and they themselves will see to it that there is no breach of peace, because they desire to inspire confidence abroad, so that capital may be invested and the prosperity of the island may be assured. They are satisfied that peace means prosperity, and that prosperity will mean enduring peace.

Grateful to America. upon to aid in the political reconstruction

Grateful to America.

"The Cubans are grateful to the Amerian people for their intervention, and for the assistance they are now getting in the definite solution of the political future of the island. They recognize that the United Cuba should be such as to guarantee all in-terests, but as this is also the object of the Cubans, as expressed to me through their leaders and in conversation with a great number of persons, they stand ready to aid the United States in every possible manner.

"I have talked with people representing the business interests, Spaniards and those of the autonomous regime, and they, too, have confidence in the situation. They do not think that the time is quite yet arrived for them to come from their retirement and take part in politics, but I find that these Cubans who fought in the revolution are ready to forget the past and to welcome them when they desire to take part in the political affairs of the island. This spirit on the part of the leaders of the late in surrection will undeubtedly cause surprise, but it is the one fact which has impressed me in my conversation with these men more than any other.

Wood has met the people in a most friendly and cordial spirit, and has asked them to express their opinion freely to him, and not to fear to come to him in criticism. The Cubans have promised him their most cordial support, and while the problems of reorganization which face him are indeed great and difficult, there is confidence in his ability, sincerity in their promises of co-operation, and a great spirit of security operation, and a great spirit of security ow prevails

Mr. Rubens relates many interesting incldents connected with the inauguration of Gen. Wood. As the latter arrived Gen. Roderiguez, next to Gomez in command, was at the wharf to meet him.

Wood at once invited the old Cuban leader to enter his carriage, and there was a cheer from the assembled crowd at this thoughtful attention from the new governor general. Later, Gen. Wood asked to see Gen. Gomez, and Mr. Rubens accompanied the old commander-in-chief to the American headquarters. It was a notable meeting, the governor general inviting the co-operation of Gen. Gomez, and the latter, giving earnest assurance that the Cubans had every confidence in Gen. Wood and intended to uphold his hands.

"General, I want you to come to me as one soldier comes to another," said Gen. Wood, and the veteran Cuban was visibly affected at this expression of confidence from the American commander.

Local Examinations to Be Resumed Janu-

Co-Operating With Gen. Wood-Give List of Eligibles Who Have Passed

Examinations Numbers 1,385-No Clerks Needed Now.

There is an unmistakable air of business about the census office these days. The new building at the corner of 1st and B streets northwest is now occupied by the everything will be in readiness for the large number of clerks who are to perform the great task of compiling the census. Since the advent of Congress the pressure for positions has been enormous. Director Merriam, while willing to do everything the his power to relieve the situation, finds himself absolutely helpless. There is no work to be done beyond that which is now being cared for by an ample number of clerks. Many senators and representatives, it is said, do not appreciate this and believe the census is now being taken and that every one of the clerks allotted to them should be immediately appointed.

Taking the Census. The work of taking the census will begin on the 1st day of next June, when the enuhouse visits. It is expected that the first returns will be turned in from this city, and that they will begin to arrive about the 20th of June. Then a number of appointments will be made. They will not all be made at once, but gradually, as the necessity arises. So that the original state cessity arises. So that the original statement of Director Merriam still obtains that no great number of clerks will be needed until some time in July.

It will require over 1.000 clerks to punch cards in order that the count can be made. These will be classed as "punchers," and will precede the clerks. After they have concluded their work, many of them will be sent to desks. Several months will be required, it is believed, to make the count. As heretofore stated the Hollerith system will be employed to do the counting. In fact, the system has been adopted and within two weeks will be in actual operation by the Hollerith people, who have the contract to count the census of Cuba and Puerto Rico, which has just been completed.

Over 1,300 on the Eligible List. The list of eligibles to appointment, or those who have successfully passed the examination as required, numbers 1,385, of which 837 are men and 482 women. Examiner Garber, who has been conduct ng the examinations throughout the country, has just returned to the city after an bsence of three months. During this period he conducted examinations in the following places: Lansing, Mich.; Cincin-Omaha, Neb., Topeka, Kan.; St. Paul, Minn.; Omaha, Neb., Topeka, Kan.; St. Louis, Mo.; New Orleans, La.; Atlanta, Ga., and ortland, Ore.

It will be interesting to note the result of Portland, Ore.

It will be interesting to note the result of the different examinations: At Lansing four days were spent and 126 people examined, of which number eighty-four passed and forty-two failed; at Cincinnati the longest stop was made, eleven days being consumed in examining the applicants from the surrounding section. A total of 243 took the examination, and 150 passed and ninety-three failed. But one day was spent at Portland, Ore., and of the sixteen who presented themselves for examination twelve passed and four failed. At Chicago two weeks exactly in working days were spent, and 213 applicants came to be examined. Of this number 126 passed and 87 failed. At Topeka, Kan., three days were given and fifty-one examined. Thirty-nine passed and twelve failed. At Omaha, Nebr., a week was spent examining sixty-one applicants, of which number forty-four passed and seventeen failed. At St. Louis 167 were examined in eight days, and eighty-three passed, while eighty-four failed. New Orleans came next, where ninety-three were examined in the eight days allotted, of this number forty-five passed and forty-eight failed. The first stop was made at Atlanta. Ga., where in the two days set aside forty-seven were examined.

Twenty-four passed and twenty-three failed.

Examinations in This City.

Examinations will be resumed in Washington beginning January 8. The examinaions will be conducted in the new building and will be held three times a week.

In reference to the published statement that women will be appointed as enumerators to take the census, the director de-sires it stated that no women will be em-ployed in such work. It is not proper for a woman to subject herself to the annoy-ances which must surround the census

E. P. Boutelle, brother of the representalive, admitted that the latter was at the institution. Mr. Boutelle, while refraining from disclosing the exact nature of his brother's disease, said that the patient had been taken to the McLean Asylum as his symptoms were such as called for the most skillful treatment. A rumor gained curskillful treatment. A rumor gained currency during the day that the representative was dead, but E. P. Boutelle denied it. He said: "I saw the patient at the asylum yesterday, and there was nothing in his condition to occasion alarm. I left word with the asylum authorities to notify me at once if anything happened, and they will do so. I have heard nothing from the institution today, so I know there is no change. There is really nothing in my brother's condition which would indicate that his illness is fatal." that his illness is fatal."

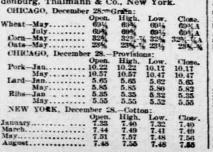

Dr. Daniel A. Robinson, the Boutelle family physician, is with the representative, and he will remain for the present.

Not Capt. Merriam's Son.

A dispatch from Faribault, Minn., announced that Henry C. Merriam of Company G, 6th Infantry, who was reported by Gen. Otts as dead from typhoid fever, was son of Capt. Merriam, a retired army officer of this city, and engaged to be mar ried to Miss Bessie Ray of Faribault. It appears from the War Department records that there were two men of the same name in the Philippines. The Henry C. Merriam who died of typhoid at Manila on the 19th instant was a private in Company G, 21st U. S. I. He enlisted at Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y., on January 24, 1829. He was not a son of Capt. GOOD BUYING FOLLOWED New Year's?

Realizing Sales Marked the Closing Hours of the Exchange.

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star. NEW YORK, December 28.-Traders sold stocks during the opening hour on the theory that the rally had run far enough and that lower prices in London would invite realizing on this side. Once the pressure of short sales was relieved the market moved upward under a commission house demand, and early sales were speedily recovered at higher prices. The market was given excellent hiside support in several instances, and raids on the part of the professional element falled of profitable re sults. stock being sufficiently limited to admit of a substantial rise in price.

The buying was not wholly for the short account, since the street had been a moderate buyer on recent declines in anticipation of such a movement as 'hat of today. Much talk of a new pool is heard, but until the short interest is eliminated the exact credit due the pool will not be known.

In a few of the inactive stocks, Colorado Fuel, for example, the price was advanced sharply under a moderate demand. Evidence of a scarcity of stock seeking a market was to be had in this and similar instances, and tended to encourage the advance in all departments.

There is a widespread belief in a moderate reaction before the end of the year, but vance in all departments.

There is a widespread belief in a moderate reaction before the end of the year, but the arguments are adopted by one faction only to be disputed by another.

Some gold is going out by Saturday's steamers, and the Transvaal situation gives every indication of being a prolonged element of mistrust. Arguments based on these facts are offered in justification of the reactionary theory, together with the usual post-panis habit of a slow recession to the low level.

On the other side there are the January disbursements of over $200,000,000, the return of money from interior points—said to have exceeded $3,000,000 yesterday—and increased dividends in railroads as well as initial dividends on the common industrials. There can be little doubt as to which series of arguments would be accepted had not the severe depression of the month reduced of arguments would be accepted had not the severe depression of the month reduced the absorbing capacity of the street.

London has home difficulties, Boston has had a shock and New York has felt the evil influence of the neighboring troubles. If the lost confidence can be restored the great prosperity of the country must force a much higher range of prices. At the present time there is enough confidence to deter short selling even at the new level. Prices reacted during the final hour, but only because of profit-taking on traders' purchases.
